CHURCHES ARE PREPARED FOR EASTER THROG

Adams Countians by the thousands will visit the church of their choice Sunday to observe one of the great days of the Christian church, the Resurrection of the Savior, following the penitential season of Lent that climaxed Friday with the observance of Christ's death on the cross.

Catholics will start the day of rejoicing with midnight Masses to-night. In churches made gloomy and darkened to recreate the hours when the first Christians waited through the night, knowing their leader was in the tomb, Catholics will gather about 10:45 o'clock to-night, resuming a custom of the early days of the church. By candlelight prayers will be offered and blessings bestowed. The huge Paschal candle, designed to recall the Risen Christ, will be prepared. At midnight the lights will come on, the organs in the churches, silent until that time, will burst forth with Easter music and the choirs will change from hymns of sorrow to hymns of joy, marking the day Christ arose.

After the midnight Masses, other Masses will be said in the Catholic churches at the usual Sunday hours Easter day.

Plan Dawn Services

Protestant observances will begin with the dawn. Earliest in the country will be one sponsored by the Redeemer's Evangelical Reformed Church of Littlestown, which will begin at 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Like at least two other services, the Redeemer's sunrise service will take place out of doors where the resurrection of Christ will be observed as the sun rises. The Redeemer's Reformed service will be at the Littlestown Fish and Game farm pond.

The Cline's EUB Sunday School and the Youth Fellowship of Mt. Tabor EUB will begin their Easter (Continued on Page 3)

"SNOWIEST" SPRING IN LONG TIME HITS AREA

This is one of the "snowiest" springs in Gettysburg and Adams County in many years but many an unofficial weather authority will tell you that "it won't stay warm until after Easter."

Local weather records show that it's likely these surprise snows will be coming to an end soon and that the one today may be the "onion snow" after all.

Not in the last 20 years has there been measurable snow in April although past Marches have seen record falls of the white stuff. The last time enough snow fell in April to measure it was in 1935 when there was one inch.

Snow Furries Tonight

But back in April, 1924, there were nine inches of snow and in April, 1918, there were 10 inches of snow . . . but that winter was the snowiest recorded here this century.

Spring arrived, according to the almanac, 11 days ago. Robins have been here for weeks. Kites have been flying and baseball teams are trying to open their seasons. Spring may soon come to stay . . . but the forecast for tonight is snow flurries.

Weather records show it's very unlikely any large amount of snow is going to fall today for March 31 had snow only once in the last 53 years. That was in 1906 when a third of an inch fell.

The nine inches in April, 1924, arrived on April Fool Day, however, the only April 1 that saw snowfall since continuous weather records were begun here 53 years ago.

Christians Await Sunday's Dawn As Symbol Of Christ's Triumph

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Christian world is waiting for Sunday's dawn as a symbol of Christ's resurrection from the dead.

Easter, for Christians, is a season of joy after 40 days of Lenten fasting, a day of light and triumph after the darkness and sorrow of Calvary, a day to rid statues of their somber purple shrouds and proclaim Christ's majesty in glorious pagentry.

From Jerusalem to Rome, from New York's Fifth Avenue to the Grand Canyon and Hollywood Bowl, from Radio Free Europe transmitters to remote regions behind the Iron Curtain, Easter will be celebrated with sunrise services, solemn high masses, triumphant music, colorful processions and inspiring rituals.

Jelly Beans And Bunnies

For the world of children, it is a day of jelly beans and chocolate eggs and Easter bunnies.

A Brown gas range, donated by Wolf's Furniture Store, Two Taverns, will be given as a door prize during the pancake festival. Children under the age of 12, who will be admitted free for pancake meal when accompanied by their parents, will receive a lollipop from Aunt Jimma and a comic book donated by Dell Publications and the L. E. Smith News Agency.

"All You Can Eat For $1"

Uber added that all 12 fraternities at the Gettysburg College are planning to attend the pancake festival as groups and similar arrangements are being made by the societies.

The festival will continue through the day, Uber said, with the cost $1 per person "for all the pancakes you can eat."

In addition to the eating portion of the festival, visits by Aunt Jimma are scheduled, a contest will be held to determine how Aunt Jimma will arrive in town, pancake eating contests will be held, and a pancake race will be conducted.

Buffalo Sailor Killed, Two Others Badly Hurt When Auto Hits Bridgewall On Harrisburg Rd.

Mule testimony to a fatal accident seven miles north of here on the Harrisburg Rd. at 11:10 o'clock Friday night is the crumpled side of the car of John Edward Hahn, Buffalo, N. Y., sailor. The side lay crushed beside the concrete bridge wall while the remainder of the car, its side torn off, swerved across the road and stopped 70 feet north of the bridge. (Times Photo)

A trip home for Easter by five young sailors from the U.S.S. Valley Forge, now at Norfolk, Va., ended in tragedy at 11:10 o'clock Friday night when one of the young men was fatally injured and two others critically hurt when their car crashed into a concrete bridge wall seven miles north of here on the Harrisburg Rd., near Jacoby's chair shop.

Robert Czarnecki, 19, Buffalo, N. Y., was killed instantly, Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said, when the young radioman seaman suffered a fractured skull and broken neck as he was thrown from the right front seat of the car.

The driver, John Edward "Jack" Hahn, 22, Buffalo, N. Y., who escaped from the crash with only a laceration of the right leg near the knee, was charged with involuntary manslaughter early this morning and placed in the county jail. State Policeman J. A. Van Nort laid the charge before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

Two Critically Hurt

Two other sailors are in a critical condition at the Warner Hospital. Leo Stephen Zador, 19, Buffalo, is suffering from concussion, fractures of the nose, back, right upper arm and right thigh and a contused chest. Robert R. Novel, 18, Erie, had a cerebral concussion, lacerations of the lip, fractures of the right face bone, dislocated right hip, lacerations of the left leg at the knee and possible internal injuries.

The fifth of the sailors, James Robert Waligur, 18, Buffalo, who was seated in the left rear seat of the car, escaped with a bruised nose.

State police said Hahn, a radioman third class, was headed north when his car struck the side of the bridge.

Can't Explain Crash

The entire right side of the car was ripped away, the fender and part of the hood and body of the car remained at the side of the bridge, other parts were scattered along the road north of the bridge as the vehicle continued on about 70 feet north, skidded across the road and headed south. Czarnecki was lying off the road on the west side of the highway, about 20 feet south of the wrecked auto.

Hahn told police and others at the scene that he did not know what had happened, whether the lights of an approaching car had forced him toward the side of the road or whether his car had drifted off the highway to strike the abutment which is close to the edge of the highway. Damage to the demolished car was estimated at $900.

FOUR ACCIDENTS OVER NIGHT IN HEAVY TRAFFIC

A Miami car was struck in quick succession by a Canadian auto and a truck it was towing near Wishard's restaurant on the Harrisburg Rd., two miles south of York Springs, at 6:25 o'clock Friday evening.

State police said Wolfgang Gawon, 36, Ontario, Canada, was traveling south, towing a truck behind his car when Louis A. Wisinski, 25, Miami, Fla., headed north, attempted a left turn into Wishard's restaurant parking lot.

Gawon's car, according to police, struck the right rear fender of Wisinski's car. The towed truck, breaking loose, hit the right front fender of the Florida driver's vehicle, and the Floridian, out of control, went on into the lot and hit a tree. The towed truck meantime rolled to a stop in the parking lot without striking any other object and Gawon came to a halt in the road.

Canadian Woman Hurt

Damage was estimated at $350 to Gawon's vehicle, $250 to Wisinski's and $50 to the towed truck.

There was one injury in the odd crash, Mrs. Teresa Gawon, 41, Ontario, Canada, was treated by Dr. William Flickinger, York Springs, for a cut knee.

The accident was one of several investigated in heavy traffic by state police Friday and this morning.

Emmitsburg Rd. Crash

At 3:45 o'clock Friday afternoon, three miles south of here on the Emmitsburg Rd., Norman J. Miller, 28, Scranton, was driving south. Police said a vehicle ahead of him, slowed and Miller, attempting to swing around the slowing car ahead, crashed head-on into a northbound auto operated by Leslie R. Shilabeer, 59, Toronto, Canada, Martha Shilabeer, a passenger in the Canadian car, was treated at the Warner Hospital for lacerations of the scalp and forehead. Damage was $325 to the Miller car and $250 to Shilabeer's vehicle.

Two Other Accidents

No one was injured and damage totaled $275 when two cars collided at 8:30 o'clock Friday night about a mile south of New Oxford on the Irishtown Rd. Police said Lavere B. Hockensmith, 34, Hanover, driving south, started to pass a car driven by John B. Carbaugh, 74, New Oxford R. 1, just as Carbaugh sought to make a left turn into a driveway.

Damage totaled $1,100 when two cars collided eight miles west of here on the Lincoln Highway at 12:15 o'clock this morning. State police said Clyde A. Barnes, 49, Fayetteville R. 2, carpenter, had stopped on the highway, while headed east, and the car of LeRoy Wilson Stine, 45, Baltimore, also headed east, struck the rear of the Barnes auto. Damage was $800 to the Stine vehicle and $300 to Barnes' car. Only minor injuries were reported.

LEADER SAYS TIME IS NEEDED TO CLARIFY TAX

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader says the state's new 3 per cent sales tax will take "some time" to clarify and will "work a hardship" on the public and merchants throughout the commonwealth.

In discussing the sales tax at his monthly news conference for weekly newspapers Thursday, the governor declared:

"The law will take time to clarify and it will work a hardship on some merchants. I don't like it and I don't expect the public will like it. But there is nothing much either of us can do about it."

Expects Fund Shortage
Leader said the attorney general and the Revenue Department are developing a set of regulations for the enforcement of the law. The Revenue Department has prepared some preliminary regulations which are being held up by the Justice Department pending legislative amendments to the levy.

"I don't expect the tax will bring in anything close to the $22 million dollars expected by some people." If more items are exempted by the Legislature, Leader said.
"I am not, have not been and will not be a proponent of the sales tax," he asserted, "and some of those who have supported it might have thought about problems such as these."

Work On Dams
Switching to other subjects Leader revealed that legislation is being prepared to allow the Department of Forests and Waters to buy some land that will eventually be used for the proposed Wallpack Bend Dam on the Delaware River in Pike County.

The department has renewed its efforts for construction of the dam since the Delaware overflowed its banks in last year's floods. Department officials have estimated that millions in flood damage could have been prevented if the dam had been built.

Among other subjects touched on by Leader during the hour-long session were:
He has decided to distribute a weekly column "A Little on the Homespun Side" to weekly newspapers but he did not indicate when the first installment would be written.

It will be a "matter of record" that the present administration has made greater progress in cleaning up the streams of the state than any previous administration although this one "may have not made as much noise" as others.

The governor said he believes that a new law raising the borrowing power of the State School Building Authority will go a long way toward eliminating "frills" in state aided school construction.
"There will be no luxury schools built in Pennsylvania with state participation because of the built-in ceiling on state aid," he declared.
For the first time limits of $1,700 per high school pupil and $1,100 an elementary school pupil, have been written into the law.

GIRLS OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Three teenage girls were overcome by gasoline fumes while aboard a bus late Thursday night en route from the McKeesport area in Western Pennsylvania to attend a youth religious rally here. Sixteen other teenagers on the bus were treated for nausea.

Those treated at Harrisburg Hospital were identified as Mary Kathleen Wilks, 14, Glassport; Judy N. Douglas, 15, and Joan E. Glunt, 19, both of McKeesport. They were discharged from the hospital after treatment.

The three girls fainted as the bus headed for Harrisburg on the Carlisle Pike about five miles from the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Removed To Hospital
The bus was stopped, the three girls removed by ambulance to the hospital, and the rest of the passengers were brought to Harrisburg by other means of transportation.

Physicians said 37 passengers were aboard the bus. After the three girls were discharged from the hospital, attendants said 16 other teenagers reported for treatment for nausea.

The group of young men and women from the McKeesport area, chaperoned by Mrs. Edith Carroll, came to Harrisburg for a two-day spring convention, sponsored by Christ's Ambassadors, youth movement of the Assembly of God Churches.

TWO OFFICIALS DISAGREE OVER CHINA TRADE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and foreign aid chief John B. Hollister may be in disagreement over whether Nationalist China trades directly with Red China.

Hoover told the Senate Investigations subcommittee Thursday, "There is no evidence of direct commercial contact between Nationalist China and Communist China."

But Hollister, in a Jan. 5 report to Congress on East-West trade, listed Formosa, the Nationalist China seat of government, as "importing country" for $1,300,000 worth of imports from Communist China from January through August 1955.

The Big Difference
The big difference seemed to be that Hoover said categorically "this trade took place through Hong Kong" with no evidence of direct trade, whereas Hollister's report showed Communist China and Formosa as direct traders—one the importer, the other the exporter.

Hong Kong appears in Hollister's tabulation too as importer between January and August 1955 of 150 millions in Red China goods and exporter to Red China of $94,600,000 worth. Hong Kong is a British colony.

This disparity was one more question mark in the subcommittee's clash with Eisenhower administration officials over East-West trade data. Hoover's testimony Thursday was behind closed doors but a partial transcript was made available afterward. Hollister also was present.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark), recessed subcommittee hearings while he and other subcommittee members ponder how to cope with refusals by Hoover, Hollister and other officials to part publicly with trade data they contend might harm national security. They have refused to make public such documents as the Allied list of items embargoed in trade with the Soviet bloc.

McClellan and others say the people have a right to know why and how the administration agreed in 1954 to relax the embargo list. Red China came into the picture Monday when Hoover testified: "The Chinese Nationalists are shipping to the Communist Chinese quite a number of millions of dollars worth of goods every year."

Yesterday he took back that statement as being in error. The transcript showed he said: "Had I had the opportunity to do so, I would have pointed out that this trade took place through Hong Kong, and that there is no evidence of direct commercial contact between Nationalist China and Communist China, or of trade in strategic items directly or indirectly."

News Briefs

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—A bird with a 45-inch wing spread and a sharp beak attacked a six-year-old boy, a woman and a state trooper near here yesterday.

Trooper John Waters shot the bird with his .45 revolver as it swooped down on him. The bird, identified by a local resident as a bittern or stake driver, had a four-inch beak.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign aid and State Department officials were agreed today that so far as they know any Nationalist-Red Chinese trading is handled through Hong Kong—not direct.

The issue was raised Monday when Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. told a Senate committee the Nationalists and the Reds were carrying on trade worth millions of dollars. He returned Thursday to add that they carried dealings "took place through Hong Kong," a British crown colony on the Chinese mainland.

This appeared to conflict, however, with a foreign aid report to Congress which listed Nationalist China as "importing country" for $1,300,000 worth of goods from Red China during the first eight months of 1955. Shipments to and from Hong Kong were listed separately in the report.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Communist party and the Daily Worker have offered $2,850 in cash in a bid to recover their property—a mostly battered office equipment—seized by the government on income tax liens.

Donald R. Moysey, New York district director of internal revenue, declined the proffered funds for the moment at least. He said his inventory of the seized property was not complete.

However, he invited and accepted a formal submission of the proposed financial arrangement by attorneys for the party and its newspaper, the lawyers said.

Moysey conferred Thursday with John J. Abt, attorney for the Communist party, and Harry Sacher, attorney for the Daily Worker. The lawyers offered to leave a deposit of $2,850 with Moysey against the value of the seized property.

RETAIL MILK TO DROP HALF-CENT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Seasonal cuts in consumer milk prices go into effect in 10 of 13 areas in Pennsylvania at midnight tonight. The cuts will amount to half of the usual drop in most of Pennsylvania.

The changes mean consumers in 10 of 13 areas will pay 1/2 cent less than at present for a quart of milk, both home delivered and in the store.

In previous April 1 price revisions the consumers' cost generally dropped a full cent a quart.

Reflects Rising Costs

The State Milk Commission said the changes reflect increased costs of both milk producers and milk dealers. The new schedule resulted from hearings in the 10 regions between Feb. 7 and March 15.

In the three remaining areas, Pittsburgh, Scranton and Erie districts, the consumer drop will be the usual full penny a quart as in previous years.

At the same time it will be legal to sell milk in half gallon containers in the Philadelphia area.

YOUNG PATIENT BRIGHTENS DAYS FOR CHILDREN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Easter season is a little cheerier for the sick youngsters at Children's Hospital here, thanks to a nine-year-old patient from Lebanon, Pa.

Karen Long, a freckle-faced, smiling little brunette, is ill herself but that doesn't stop her from trying to brighten the days of her fellow patients. In fact, she's earned herself the title of "acting toy lady." Karen helps the nurses distribute toys to the younger children at the hospital, and has been teaching some of the tots to color eggs and make Easter baskets.

Karen is suffering from aplastic anemia, a rare blood disease. Dr. Irving Woolman, who is treating her, is using a new method. He withheld details of the treatment, but says Karen has shown definite improvement and has "turned the corner" toward recovery. She has received over 30 transfusions.

Receives Gifts, Letters
Her room at the hospital is brightened with several stuffed Easter bunnies and a toy duck she has received as gifts. And the cards from friends and well-wishers have just poured in. Karen's mother, Mrs. Daniel Long of Lebanon, says the little girl has received several thousand and insists on reading each one.

Even illness doesn't daunt the eternal feminine, and Karen is hoping she'll be able to wear a pretty new frock for Easter. Karen's father is district farm placement supervisor for the Harrisburg area. Her big brother, Dan Jr., a sophomore at Penn State, will be here for the holiday with Karen's parents.

SOIL BANK PLAN WINS APPROVAL OF CONFEREES

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's soil bank plan has won the expected approval of Senate-House conferees as part of $1,700,000,000 in election-year payments to farmers.

In addition to the $1,200,000,000 soil bank plan of paying farmers to take land out of production, the conference committee voted yesterday to authorize 500 million dollars additional for buying pork and other perishable commodities not eligible for regular price supports.

Still undecided, as the conferees went into a Saturday session was whether to make soil bank participation voluntary, as the administration asked, or compulsory as the Senate voted.

The soil bank plan was Eisenhower's major recommendation for new farm legislation this year, but first the Senate, and since then the Senate-House conferees, have tied it in with rigid price supports and other provisions opposed by the administration. This has raised the threat of a presidential veto of the entire measure.

The soil bank plan, which has not yet come before the House, was approved yesterday in virtually the form agreed on by the Senate.

Encouraging News
Some encouraging news came yesterday from the Agriculture Department. It reported that farm prices advanced 2 per cent on the average between mid-February and mid-March, on top of a 1 per cent increase during the preceding month.

The 3 per cent gain this year was partially offset by a 1 1/2 per cent increase in prices of goods and services farmers buy.

The mid-March farm prices still, however, were 5 per cent below those of a year ago and nearly 27 per cent below the record high reached in 1951.

TROUBLE BREWS IN DETROIT'S MILK STRIKE

DETROIT (AP)—New and possibly dangerous trouble appeared brewing today in Michigan's week-old milk strike which has cut deeply into Detroit supplies.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams took cognizance of the situation in a warning that "no group of private citizens has any right to interfere with the free use of the roads or to constitute themselves into a private army to enforce their use of the roads."

The governor's warning followed reports that nonstriking farmers were contemplating moving milk trucks by force to Detroit processing plants from out-state.

Began Picketing Monday
Strikers insisted they would keep up their picketing squeeze to force the farmer's price of milk from $4.41 to $6.50 per hundred pounds, come what may.

Both strikers and nonstrikers are members of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. The strikers, however, recently formed themselves into the Fair Share Bargaining Assn., expressing dissatisfaction with the older group's bargaining, but not withdrawing.

Both groups agree farmers aren't getting enough for milk in relation to work and production costs involved.

The Fair Share Bargaining Assn. began picketing two Detroit creameries Monday to support price demands. Picketing spread and by Thursday they had hemmed in trucks outside loaded with more than two million quarts destined for Detroit. Thursday night highway-roving pickets began dumping milk from trucks stopped en route to Detroit.

May Use State Police
Gov. Williams, told of the situation, said he would call out state police if necessary to keep the highways open for milk deliveries, but added that "they will not be used as strike breakers and they will not take sides in the dispute."

Some milk trucks moved down Detroit streets under police escort yesterday.

The Michigan Milk Producers Assn. announced Wednesday it would call a strike of its own today unless creameries agreed to a price of $5 per hundred pounds, equal to 46¢ quarts.

Fair Share leaders termed the MMPA price "just a bone tossed to the dog," and declared they had signed two small plants in suburban Richmond and Mt. also predicted quick signing with them by others.

MARGARY VICTIM HAS INFECTION

BALTIMORE (AP)—A bone infection has interrupted the recovery of 2-month-old Thomas Perry, whose left foot recently was mangled by a pet margary.

A spokesman at Johns Hopkins Hospital, where Thomas is a patient, said yesterday the youngster had developed osteomyelitis near the knee. Doctors said the infection sometimes responds well to antibiotics.

Thomas was attacked by the margary, a member of the cat family, at his Beltsville Md., home last March 13. Walter Perry, 28, his father, said he had bought the cat believing it was an ocelot, which can be domesticated. Margarys become wild when they reach maturity.

The animal chewed the toes from the baby's left foot. Perry and his wife, June, 24, are scheduled for a hearing April 2 in Magistrate's Court in Hyattsville on charges of keeping a fierce animal.

IT WILL SNOW OR RAIN EASTER IN SOME AREAS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dry weather prevailed over most of the nation today with indications of rain or snow for some sections on Easter Sunday.

Generally cool spring weather continued in wide areas from the northern Great Lakes region southward through the Ohio and Tennessee valleys and eastward to New England. There was a warming trend from the plains westward across the Rockies to the Pacific coastal states.

Precipitation was confined mainly to the Northwest and Northeast regions. Heaviest falls of snow, around six inches, were in Mount Washington, N.H., and Caribou, Maine. Falls ranged from 1 to 3 inches from central New York through New England.

Snow or snow flurries continued during the morning in northern Ohio, western and northern Pennsylvania, western New York and Maine.

Scattered Showers

In the Pacific Northwest, snow falls ranged from light to moderate through northern Idaho, Washington, Oregon and the northern California coast.

Widely scattered showers were reported last night in north central Texas and along the South Atlantic Coast.

There was a cooling in the Southern states with temperatures running 10 to 20 degrees lower than yesterday morning. Readings also were lower in the northern Great Lakes region.

The warm air which spread across western areas brought biggest temperature advances to the plains and northern Rockies, averaging around 14 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier. In other areas the rises averaged about 8 degrees.

Milder weather was in prospect for most of the Midwest over the weekend, with a possibility of showers. Some rain or snow also was predicted for the Northern Plains but clear skies were in prospect in the Rockies.

Fair weather was the outlook for the East Coast while scattered showers and rising temperatures were forecast for the lower and middle Mississippi Valley.

EX-TEACHER TO BE CLOWN

NEW YORK (AP)—A 28-year-old former high school teacher with two college degrees has signed a contract for a season as a professional clown with the Ringling Brothers & Barnum & Bailey circus.

Bachelor William Britten signed up in routine fashion Thursday at Madison Square Garden. There was press agent fanfare—with a red rose stem for a pen and the screaming of six chimpanzees for musical accompaniment.

Britten, who expects to get $7,500 for the season, entered an audition the circus held last month and was accepted.

Hailing from Philadelphia, he started in the amateur clown field in 1950 while teaching English at Ballard High School in Seattle. He wore a tramp costume to help an oil company entertain children at the opening of a new gasoline station.

Britten was graduated from Temple University, Philadelphia, with a bachelor of arts degree, and got a master of arts degree from the University of Washington. He has been studying for a doctor's degree at New York University.

He said yesterday he has "always wanted to be a clown" and, besides, he needed the money.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT ST. ALOYSIUS

A very large congregation was present at the Good Friday communion service in St. Aloysius Catholic Church. The liturgy including the Readings; the Passion according to St. John; the nine solemn prayers of the cross, by all present in the church, while the hymn "At The Cross" was sung a cappello; and the Communion, of celebrant and faithful. There were no church bells nor any music in the church since the time of the Gloria in the Holy Thursday mass and there will be none until the Gloria in the mass tonight. The altars were completely stripped of linens, candles, etc., at the conclusion of the Good Friday service, to remain that way until tonight's ceremonies. Only a large crucifix remained in the sanctuary, for veneration of the faithful who could not attend the Good Friday services, but could visit the church last evening. Confessions will be heard today from 3:30 to 5 and from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Services tonight will begin at 11 p.m. and the High Mass of the Vigil will follow about midnight. Easter Sunday masses will begin at 7:30 and 10 a.m.

County Agent Lists Benefits From Spittlebug Sprays, Grub Control, Paved Barn Yards

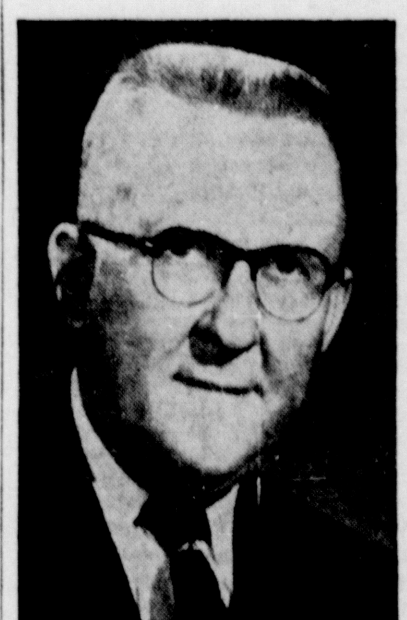

By FRANK S. ZETTEL

Adams County Farm Agent
You'll get all kinds of benefit if you spray your 1956 hay crop against spittlebugs. They've been a problem on many Pennsylvania farms. But spraying is the answer, and there is how it might help you.

By applying the right insecticide at the right time, you'll increase your yield of hay, and you'll also increase its feeding value. You'll cut down on the curing time of the hay, and you'll keep up the plant vigor and stand of your hay crop. All these gains for you, just for spraying your hay crop against spittlebugs.

Low pressure or weed type sprayers give effective control, when you apply 20 to 30 gallons of spray per acre and somewhere between 40 and 60 pounds of pressure. High pressure sprayers are more effective when you put on 50 or 100 gallons of spray per acre, with anywhere from 250 to 400 pounds pressure.

Today's Talk

TO TRAVEL HOPEFULLY
Every time anger, bitterness or rage possesses you, just remember that every time any of these is in control it's like drawing money out of the bank that you have been saving for some happy occasion. You have lost, not saved.

To travel hopefully in life you must daily try to build up hope and faith. They are your invisible guardians. Robert Louis Stevenson once wrote that to travel hopefully was to arrive. We do not know our destiny, but we can know today. Living it out hopefully is to assure us that the morrow shall at least be secure.

With a song in our heart we can escape every thrust of fate, and know that all is well. Just to be kind is to enact the spirit of the Good Samaritan as told in the Bible. To have merely money and no friends is to travel miserably. Where money is everything, there is nothing.

Our forefathers traveled hopefully for they had so little. But that little gave them courage and the will to go on. The inspiration of their lives hovers about us and gives us that hope, enabling us to keep progressing happily, cheering others on their way, as did that humble roadmender in Michael Fairless' story.

Whenever we travel with worry, bitterness in our heart, and complaining about our fate in life, we carry too much luggage. We grow tired and stumble. By having always something happy to perform, that burden slips away without our notice! Selflessness is a quality gift from Heaven. Jesus said:

"Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

NO SHOPPER
When shopping I'm obliged to go I never have an hour or so To walk around and look about; I hurry in and hurry out. I buy the first hat shown if it's The kind I'm used to and it fits.

A shirt my size is always right. With cuffs and collar, if it's white. I will not take the time to choose From all the gay and varied hues Nor do I want to search the place To find some bargain in a case.

A woman shopper's never known To take the first thing that is shown. She's always sure the clerk will bring Eventually some better thing. And for that chance supremely great She'll look and look and wait and wait.

Well, that's the difference. Sad the lives Would be of men without their wives. Too fast they buy — and that's no joke — And doing that they'd all go broke. Of men it's true, and here I stop. Not one of them knows how to shop.

Story Of Easter: Mary Magdalene, Serves Her God

(Steadfast women followers of Jesus stayed with Him until the end, after the peril of arrest drove the men into hiding. This, eighth and last of the Easter Week series, is about the women, especially one of them.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
The Associated Press

The city slept. A slender, dark-haired woman hurried through the silent streets, past the shuttered stalls of merchants and craftsmen, on to the city's edge and into a garden of cedars and blooming crocuses.

The path led to an open tomb. Mary Magdalene, clutching a pack, peered nervously inside. She caught her breath. It was empty. She drew back, shaken. The grave yawned dark and eerie in the gray dawn stillness.

Just then, overhead, the first burst of sunlight flooded the tree-tops.

Pale and tense, Mary Magdalene turned and ran frantically back into the city, stumbling over logs and stones, through the waking city, numb to the vendors' cries, the smell of baking loaves, on to the apostles' house.

Reports Body Stolen
To Peter and John, she exclaimed: "They have taken away the Lord!"

Together the three of them raced back to the place, John dashing ahead. But at the tomb, he waited, giving precedence to Peter to enter first. Only the burial linens, carefully folded, remained.

Mystified and at a loss for an explanation, the apostles gave up and went home. But Mary Magdalene remained, standing outside the deserted tomb, torn with apprehensions, weeping inconsolably.

Always at the extreme, pivotal moments of Jesus' time, it seemed that women, and often almost no one else, held fast to Him.

Could Not Leave
It was that way at the cross, and again now, at the weirdly vacated tomb. Though the men could walk away, Mary Magdalene could not. Perturbed and desolate, her womanly intuition held her at the place where He had lain.

In nearly all Jesus' journeys, from town to town, the women were there, hovering loyally in the background, ministering to Him — cooking, weaving, listening to Him — serving His last supper.

There was Joanna, and Salome, and Mary, the wife of Herod's steward, and Martha, the bustling, efficient hostess, and her sister, Mary of Bethany, a dreamy girl who neglected her work to hang on Jesus' words, and many others. They came from all levels. Mary Magdalene knew keenly how they felt, especially those with bitter pasts. They were bound to Him by His gentle deeds and words of encouragement and sympathy and understanding.

Gave Women Hope
Such graciousness was little known in those days of harsh judgments and arbitrary condemnations, when prisoners were made slaves, children often exposed to prostitution, and a misstep marked a woman forever.

But Jesus gave hope — a new start! Like the sobbing street girl who came while Jesus dined at the Pharisee's house. She anointed Him, abjectly washed His feet with tears, wiped them with her hair, kissed them.

The rigidly legalistic host had been aghast, shocked that Jesus would let this sinner, this tainted woman, even touch Him. But Jesus said that those who are forgiven the most, love the most.

FBI NABS TWO; ONE WAS OF 10 'MOST WANTED'
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Nick George Montos, the only fugitive to make the FBI's "10 most wanted" list twice, was captured by FBI agents in a suburban motel Friday.

Despite an arsenal of weapons, the 38-year-old Montos and a fellow fugitive, Robert Lloyd Jones, 30, surrendered meekly after agents fired tear gas bombs into their room. Each fugitive was carrying more than $2,000.

C. E. Piper, in charge of the Memphis FBI office, said Montos was one of the nation's "top burglars and safe crackers." Jones, a convicted murderer, was serving a life sentence at the Mississippi State Penitentiary in Parchman from which he and Montos escaped last Jan. 10.

Piper and other agents made the arrest shortly after 3 a.m. "We ordered them to come out," Piper said. "They were a little slow about it so we fired tear gas into the room. They came out in a hurry then."

"Loaded For Bear"
Piper said the arsenal of weapons in the fugitives' room included a sub-machinegun, a sawed off shotgun, a rifle, five pistols and a fountain-pen gun.

"They were loaded for bear and would have used it if we had given them the chance," Piper said.

Jones was convicted of the murder of a fellow prisoner at Parchman. Piper said he was due to be placed on the "most wanted" list "at the first vacancy."

MARY MAGDALENE

from the devil, had that kind of love, a great, constant, never-ebbing glow of gratitude for what He had done, for the winking, new hope He had given.

Had Turned Accusers
There was that time at the temple, glimmering in memory like a jewel in a dark room. The Pharisees, those strict ritualists, thought they had a trap for Jesus. This woman, they said, was caught in adultery! The law says: Stone her to death!

She had stood there, trembling and terrified. Jesus, His face brooding and pitying, stooped down, His finger tracing in the sand, "Him that is without sin among you, let him cast the first stone." Slowly, shamefacedly, the accusers withdrew and walked silently away.

Tears coursed her cheeks, smearing her kohl-painted eyelids. "Woman," Jesus said, "where are thy accusers? Hath no man condemned thee?"

Like Loosened Chains
She swallowed, trying to speak. "No man . . . Lord."

"Neither do I condemn thee. Go."

Beholds Risen Lord
It was the gardener, of course! Her thoughts spinning, hardly looking at Him, her words tumbled out. "Sir, if Thou hast borne Him hence tell me where Thou hast laid Him and I will take Him away."

The man smiled tolerantly, "Mary."

Her eyes whipped up to His face, and her world stood still. "Master!"

It was He! The Lord, risen! Alive again, walking the earth, with His goodness and gentleness and love for all. Her Savior! Her life, regained!

"Touch Me not," Jesus said softly, "for I am not yet ascended unto the Father, but go unto My brethren, and say to them that I ascend unto My Father and your Father, and My God and your God."

Mary went, her feet flying, her heart on wings, knowing now that Jesus would never die, that He is with us always, even unto the end of the world.

Testimony On Budget
Along the same line, Secretary of the Air Force Quarles said the growth of nuclear power in both the United States and Russia is leading to "a situation in which neither side could profitably initiate a war of this kind."

The testimony dealt largely with the budget proposed for the Defense Department for the year starting July 1, but it included also Gen. Matthew Ridgway's views on the situation when he was Army chief of staff. He was invited to testify after his publication of a series of articles in the Saturday Evening Post.

In the articles, Ridgway took issue with a statement in President Eisenhower's January 1954 State of the Union message to Congress that a reduction in military forces had been unanimously approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Ridgway was then a member of the Joint Chiefs.

Cuts Too Rapid
He told the subcommittee, in testimony Feb. 8, that he had agreed in December 1953 to a long-range program under which Army strength would be cut from about 1½ million men to one million by 1957. He said this was based on certain assumptions as to world conditions and contended those assumptions "have not materialized."

He said he thought the cuts were made too rapidly. Ridgway said he may have used some "poetic license" in an article saying that as Army chief "I felt I was being called upon to destroy, rather than to build, a fighting force."

Ridgway's successor, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, told the subcommittee the 1,025,000-man army proposed for the coming year is "marginally sufficient" for the Army's tasks. But he said an Army of 1½ million men would be the ideal from a "purely military" standpoint.

SAYS USSR OK'S BASIC IDEA OF AIR INSPECTION

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio said today Russia has accepted the basic idea of President Eisenhower's "open skies" aerial inspection plan and has proposed a three-months arms freeze to be followed by all-around cuts in conventional arms and armies.

Meanwhile, all hydrogen weapon tests would be banned.

The Russian proposal, as outlined by the official Soviet news agency Tass, calls for immediate agreement on reducing conventional armaments. The Soviets say this step "will facilitate agreement on prohibition of atomic and thermonuclear weapons and their removal from national armaments."

At 5-Power Talks
Russia made its proposal at the five-power U.N. disarmament talks in London, now closing their second week. The United States, Britain, France and Canada also are represented.

Although the Russian proposal was made in secret, some details had emerged from the conference. But the Tass report was the first broad public disclosure. The news agency gave these details:

A three-months' freeze on arms and armaments at the Dec. 31, 1955 level.

After three months, the United States, Soviet Union and Red China begin cutting their armed forces to a level of 1 to 1½ million men each. Britain and France to 650,000 men each. The reduction would be completed in 1958.

Other Provisions
Corresponding reductions in conventional armaments and military appropriations.

Creation of an international control agency to check on "fulfillment of obligations" at big ports and airfields, army bases and depots and munitions factories. The agency could make recommendations to the U.N. Security Council "on measures of preventing and stopping the actions of violators of the agreement."

An immediate ban on thermonuclear tests.

A ban on atomic weapons in Germany.

Need Better Pay For State Jobs

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Leader says that "government is big business" and must pay scales of outside industry and professions if it is to attract qualified personnel.

The governor told his monthly news conference for weekly newspapers Thursday the state is unable to attract qualified graduates of schools within the state and cited specifically Pennsylvania State University.

"Only one forester out of last year's (Penn State) graduating class entered the state service," the governor said.

"Only one engineer graduated from Pennsylvania State University since 1951 has joined the state service."

This was an obvious reference to President Eisenhower's plan for aerial reconnaissance.

Same As '54 Limits
The proposed limits for armed forces are the same as those put forward in the Anglo-French plan of 1954.

Tass said that Russia's proposal without calling first for a ban on atomic weapons "does not mean the Soviet government considers it impossible to reach agreement on the banning of atomic and hydrogen weapons."

"On the contrary," Tass added, "it intended to do its utmost to solve this problem in the near future as it is of cardinal importance for safeguarding the general peace and security."

In the past, Russia has insisted that nations must outlaw atomic weapons before discussing methods of guaranteeing compliance. The West has insisted that a workable system of inspection and controls must come first.

SEEK WINDOW BREAKERS
SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — City authorities are seeking the hammer-slinging culprits, suspected to be juveniles, who smashed the glass "windows" in 32 of the city's new parking meters.

Public Safety Director William Lonsdorf said today the meter smashers covered a five-block area, damaging only new meters installed a few days ago. "If we catch the culprits they will get the maximum police sentence of a $50 fine or five days in jail," Police Chief Leo Ruddy said.

Bullets Oppose Syracuse Here Monday At 3 P.M. In Opening Baseball Contest

Weather and ground conditions permitting, the Gettysburg College baseball team will play off the lid to its 1956 schedule here Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock against Syracuse University.

The Bullets' scheduled opener with Colgate Friday was called off due to inclement weather but may be rescheduled.

Continued cold weather, snow and rain have combined to greatly handicap practices for the Bullets and the squad has had but limited outdoor work.

Coach Henry T. Bream has been working with a 27-man squad including a goodly supply of veterans from last year's squad.

Veteran Hurlers

Three veteran hurlers are included in the four listed to work several innings apiece against the Orangemen. Joe Bierly, right-hander, Joe Pouk, southpaw, both seniors, and Johnny Schleicher, junior right-hander, are the hold-over lettermen. Gareth Biser, a junior left-hander, is also listed for action.

Catching chores will be divided by Fred Alleva, senior veteran, and Joe Robinski, a junior.

The infield will probably be composed of Bob Dickson, senior, first base; Al Tett, junior, second base; Art Hendley, junior, shortstop, and Vince Scusa, junior, third base. Hendley performed at second base last season.

Other Candidates

In addition to the above the following are candidates with good chances of gaining regular births: Pitchers, Wally Kuligowski, junior, left hander; Bob VanSaders, sophomore, left hander, and Leroy Bream, sophomore, right hander; first base, Jack Bream, junior, and Ed Hadley, senior; infielders, Walter Palmer, John Benjamin, Gene Deardorff, Jack and Nell Hickoff, all sophomores, and Bob Gilchrist, and Bruce Pieper, seniors; outfielders, King VanNest, senior, and Jack Best, sophomore.

The batting order for the initial game will be as follows: Scusa, Hendley, Polak, Capitani, Dickson, Alleva or Robinski, Swenk, Tett and the pitcher.

Syracuse is bringing a veteran squad here which divided in 18 games last year. The game will also mark the opener for the Orangemen who will also meet Quantico, Navy, Georgetown, Western Maryland and Catholic University in that order next week on their southern trip.

Dick Darr, a senior from Carlisle, led the team in hitting last year and will play either third base or in the outfield. Eddie Albright, Reading, who quarterbacked the football last year, will play second base.

The Orangemen have also been hampered by poor playing conditions and, like the Bullets, will be experimenting with candidates for some time.

HAMIA MAKES HIT BEATING COSTA; SPLIT DECISION

NEW YORK (AP)—The featherweight division has a fine new contender today in baby-faced Cherif Hamia, 25, France, who declared he was ready for any of the high-ranking 126-pounders following his victory over Carmela Costa, 21, Brooklyn.

The Parisian with the choir-boy looks and a zest for fighting made a hit in his pro debut in the U. S. last night when he won a split 10-round decision in Madison Square Garden.

It was a narrow win, the way the officials saw it, but the fast, hard-hitting Hamia captivated the slim crowd of 1,500 and television fans with his brisk, aggressive style against the flitting Costa.

Costa Staggered 3 Times

Hamia staggered Costa three times, in the second, third and eighth rounds, and made his early lead stand up for the win. Ranked eighth until last night, Hamia stretched his unbeaten streak to 10 fights while snapping Costa's undefeated string at seven. Costa is ranked third.

"This kid is okay," said matchmaker Billy Brown. "He showed us plenty and he's a real crowd-pleaser. We'll try to match him with the winner of the April 16 Miguel Berrios-Bobby Bell fight."

"That's fine with us," said Manager Philippe Filippi. "Cherif is ready for any of them including champion Sandy Saddler."

Referee Al Berli and Judge Joe Eppy each scored for Hamia 5-4-1. Judge Jack Gordon had it 5-4-1 for Costa. The Associated Press had Hamia in front 7-3. Six of nine boxing writers had Hamia the winner.

A natural featherweight, Hamia weighed 126½ to Costa's 130.

TRIES TO GIVE STOLEN MONEY

LYNBROOK, N.Y. (AP)—When a 14-year-old boy tries to give away dollar bills and hamburgers on the street, it is bound to attract attention.

The attention resulted in the youth being taken into custody for stealing a lady's purse containing $30.

Mrs. Blanche Gillespie missed her pocketbook on Thursday. Here's what happened, as disclosed yesterday:

The boy knew his seven-year old sister wanted a certain Easter basket, but he had no money. He allegedly purloined the purse and bought the basket, which cost $3.50.

Fearing to go home with the extra money, the lad tried to pass out the dollar bills. There were no takers. Then he bought $2.50 worth of hamburgers and tried to give them away. By this time, somebody called police.

The boy, not identified, faces a Children's Court hearing April 11. But Mrs. Gillespie, saying she would not press charges, added: "He seemed to want to do good with the money."

COACH PLEASED WITH COLLEGE ALL-STAR TEAM

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Bucky O'Connor of Iowa, coach of the hand-picked college squad, is confident the collegians will give a good account of themselves against the best the Amateur Athletic Union and armed services have to offer in next week's Olympic basketball trials at Kansas City.

"They have jelled rapidly in the last three or four days," said O'Connor today after the collegians wound up practice for tonight's East-West game, sponsored by the New York Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund, at Madison Square Garden.

O'Connor, who piloted the Hawk-eyes to the Big Ten title and runner-up to San Francisco in the NCAA national championships, has been working All-America Bill Russell and K. C. Jones of San Francisco, UCLA's Willie Naulls, Iowa's Carl Cain and Illinois' Paul Judson as his first string unit. They will start for the West tonight.

"They have looked very well in workouts, surprisingly so considering the short time they have been together as a unit," said O'Connor. "It's likely to be my starting five at Kansas City."

O'Connor leans towards 7-foot Bill Uhl and Jim Paxson of Dayton, Hal Lear of Temple, Vic Molodet of North Carolina State and either Gary Bergen of Utah or Bob Burrow of Kentucky as his second team. Bergen plays with the West tonight. All the others are on the East team.

Bill Reigel of McNeese State, Jack McCarthy of Canisius and Chuck Rolles of Cornell complete the Olympic squad.

Four players, including two All-Americans, were declared ineligible for the East-West game yesterday because they have announced their intentions of turning pro. The AAU said announcement of their intention constitutes a violation of the AAU code.

The four are Si Green, Duquesne and Tom Heinsohn, Holy Cross, Ron Soblesky, DePaul and Julius McCoy, Michigan State.

Both are good fielders and both are currently burning up the Grapefruit League. Roberts is leading all Pirates with a .384 average, and O'Brien is next with .323.

Youthful Slayer's Trial Opens Monday

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — The murder trial of Tommy Williams, one of the 14-year-old Wheeling twins charged with slaying a Cub Scout, will open here Monday in Ohio County Intermediate Court.

Tommy and his brother, Joseph, were indicted in the death of David Powell, 9, whose body was found under the front porch of the Williams home on Wheeling Island Feb. 10.

Judge David A. McKee set the trial date yesterday and continued the indictment against Joseph, who has been free on bond since authorities said a statement by Tommy had exonerated him.

The judge granted a defense request to list the boys on separate indictments.

Probing Ruins Of Blasted Granary

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Firemen searched still-smoking ruins today for the body of a laborer believed trapped in the wreckage of a granary which exploded Wednesday night.

The blast took two other lives and caused an estimated 3½ million dollars in damages. Edward Johnson, 39, who started work at the granary 13 days before the explosion, was believed killed but his body hasn't been found.

The Philadelphia fire marshal's office tentatively placed the cause of the blast as an accumulation of dust which was ignited by a spark.

WAREHOUSE DAMAGED

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A warehouse of the Doekin Products Corp. in nearby Rockland was damaged severely by fire Thursday night.

Howard Rowan, manager of the paper products firm, said $45,000 worth of merchandise had been destroyed and that damage to the warehouse would run "more than another $5,000."

Six fire companies fought the blaze and one fireman, Charles Hamsmann, 36, of Fairfax, fell from a ladder and required hospital treatment.

The cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Don Basinghoff of Orlando, Fla., was invited to the Masters golf tournament as a result of winning the 1955 North and South amateur.

Garden Of Everlastings Yields All-Year Beauty

Pleasing arrangements of everlasting flowers, for garden effect and cut flower production.

Everlasting flowers, which were favorites in grandmother's day, florists' windows in the autumn, are returning to popularity. These colors, for decorating the home during winter.

Although they are natural flowers, with beauty and delicacy of form which no artificial flower could equal, their beauty is unfading; and in a vase or bowl they will retain form and color as long as though they were artificial.

There are many varieties which have the ability to retain form and color when dried. This is a special quality, since the petals of most flowers turn brown and drop off as they age. Everlastings thus give two displays, one in the garden, where they are as beautiful as other flowers, and a second one in the home, where they last indefinitely.

Give Double Service

Groups or small gardens of everlastings thus give double service, and will always attract special interest from garden visitors, who will welcome bouquets of these long lasting beauties.

The five varieties used in the garden which is illustrated are among the finest everlastings. Helichrysum, sometimes called the straw flower, is the most popular, being a close cousin of the French Immortelle. The plants grow vigorously, sometimes four feet tall, and the flowers will average two inches in diameter, under

VA Aid Limited To Official Program

If you're an ex-serviceman, there are a lot of ways the Veterans Administration can help you to acquire a home under the GI loan program, but there are several things it can't and won't do. It has no legal authority to:

1. Act as your architect. It does not supervise all the details of the home you buy.
2. Guarantee that the house is free of defects.
3. Act as your attorney. It cannot give you legal services if you run into trouble in buying or constructing a home.

good culture. Colors include red, rose, salmon, gold and violet.

Gilia flowers are thimble shaped, one inch across, of lavender blue. Statice sinuata flowers are small, arranged along branching stems, in blue, white, rose and lavender. Gomphrena flowers resemble clover heads or strawberries in shape, up to an inch in diameter. The colors are chiefly in tones of red and orange. Acroclinium flowers are daisy-like, averaging an inch in diameter, in pastel colors which include chamois, flesh pink and bright rose as well as white.

To dry everlasting flowers they should be cut before the centers open and hung up with blossoms down to dry in a dark closet. The foliage is stripped; and the flowers are not used in the room until cool weather comes, and the house heated. In an unheated house the stems may absorb water and become limp.

It's not a good idea to use a water-thinner wax on a shellacked floor because the water in the wax may turn the shellac white in spots.

$10,000 FOR NAME OF ONE QUINT

Owners or feeders of livestock and poultry are invited by the Central Chemical Corporation, Adams County feed dealer, to enter a calf-naming contest in which prizes worth $10,000 are offered for naming one calf.

Pictured above are the famous Wayne quintuplet calves eating Cal-nip milk replacer "that saved their lives and doubled their weight in seven weeks." Born prematurely, weighing one-fourth normal, "they have gained faster than average calves. Millions of people saw them on the 'I've Got A Secret' television show. They will be exhibited at state fairs and expositions this season," according to Donald White, manager of Central Chemical.

$10,000 in prizes are being offered for naming the bull calf in this group. The heifers are named Nola, Emma, Wanda and Anna. Altogether 203 prizes are offered in the contest, including a Case 300 tractor (plus a possible extra cash bonus of $1,000); a Ford V-8 pickup truck; a Maytag automatic washer; 100 famous Sheffield carving and steak sets, and 100 handy 8-piece kitchen sets. Anyone owning or feeding livestock or poultry of any kind may enter the contest which closes June 15. Free entry blanks are available at Central Chemical.

Many Faucets Beyond Repair

Instead of a "do-it-yourself" kit, have you often wished you had a "how-to-keep-from-doing-it-yourself" kit?

This applies particularly to some of the annoying plumbing repair jobs when parts don't fit and little screws get lost in the drain pipes.

To the disillusioned do-it-yourselfers who have given up on leaking faucets, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau offers the suggestion that replacing faucets rather than fixing them may be in order.

Thousands of old faucets that have been giving years of service in kitchens, bathrooms, and laundries are beyond the repair stage. Householders will save time and money by replacing them with new faucets.

One of the advantages in replacing old faucets with new fittings is that the new faucets are so much easier to keep in repair. All wearing parts are easily replaceable. The seat on which a faucet washer closes is the heart of a faucet. Some manufacturers provide a barrel assembly which can be replaced easily and quickly when a faucet shows signs of wear.

Another outstanding feature of modern faucets is the aerating type of spout which adds air bubbles to the water as it flows. Aerated water makes suds more readily and provides better rinsing action.

"We have used KARATHANE for two years and it now forms an important part of our spray schedule. The reason for this is that by controlling powdery mildew we have shown an increase in our yields of Rome by about 20%." — HARRY G. BLACK, Catoctin Mt. Orchards, Thurmont, Maryland.

Stop powdery mildew... with KARATHANE WD

No wonder leading apple growers are getting ready once more to spray KARATHANE WD for powdery mildew control. This organic fungicide is really effective against mildew, but unlike sulfur, does not harm buds, blossoms, fruit and foliage, when used as recommended.

KARATHANE should be included in pre-bloom sprays to help prevent the spread of overwintering mildew to the blossoms and to new growth. Post-bloom KARATHANE sprays reduce infection of the buds which produce next year's crop. One pound of KARATHANE powder per 100 gallons of spray does the trick. By adding 2 to 3 ounces of TRITON B-1956 spreader, you can assure thorough wetting and coverage of the "waxy" mildew.

KARATHANE also suppresses European red, Willamette, two-spotted, and Pacific and Bryobia mites. Under normal conditions, it is not necessary to add a miticide to KARATHANE sprays.

KARATHANE UPS OUTPUT FROM 400 BOXES TO 17,000

After two years of sulfur, a forty-acre block of young Jonathans in Washington State was sprayed with KARATHANE for powdery mildew control. The first year, output increased from 400 to 1100 boxes, the second year to 17,000 boxes. Today, the powdery mildew infection has practically disappeared.

Select Shade Trees To Suit Type Of Home

Before you choose a shade tree for your property as part of your Clean Up-Plant Up program, you should consult the tree growth table and coordinate it with your house height, personal desires and program of living.

Your type of house, ranch or two story, will determine the right ultimate height of the prospective tree. An oak would rather dwarf a small rambler, for example. If your job appears stationary and permanent, so that your present house may be home for several decades, you can profitably purchase a tree which reaches maturity slowly. Last, but obviously not least, your personal likes in trees should influence your decision.

Name Tree Growth Rate

Let's look at the growth table. Fastest growing trees are sugar maple, American and green ash, cucumber tree, American, Chinese, and Moline elms, sweet gum, silver maple, sycamore, thornless honey locust and little leaf linden. They will grow 20 to 30 feet in ten years.

Medium growth trees — those growing to approximately 15 feet in 10 years—include black walnut, Norway maple, English oak, red and pin oak, Amur cherry, Amur cork tree, beech, birch, ginkgo, buckeye, tulip tree, hackberry, hawthorn and horsechestnut.

Slow growing trees, which reach less than 15 feet in ten years, are bur oak, hornbeam, shagbark hickory, Kentucky coffee tree and white oak.

Other Growth Factors

Various coniferous evergreens also have different growing rates. Douglas fir, European larch, red pine, Scotch pine, white pine, Black Hills spruce, Norway and white spruce are rapid growing, reaching about 20 feet in 10 years. White fir, Serbian spruce, hemlock and Austrian pine are slower.

Of course, climate and fertilization also affect the growing rate. It's a wise idea to discuss local conditions and their influence on growth with your nurseryman. Then with the basic facts in mind plus your own preferences you can plant the tree closest to your requirements.

SIMPLIFIES CLEANING JOB

Make the child's room easy to clean by eliminating, wherever possible, furniture with legs. Suspend the desk and dressing table firmly from the wall so that they do not have to be moved for sweeping. Legless bookcases and chests can stand squarely on the floor so that there is no space beneath them where dust can accumulate.

Sprinkle Of Seeds Brings A Rainbow Of Flowers

Planting plan for combined border and cutting garden of 12 annual flowers.

All the colors of the rainbow, with fragrance besides, can be grown in a combined border and cutting garden from a dozen packets of flower seed.

Sown in a sunny area of the home grounds, this planting will serve the double purpose of making a garden display, and providing a wealth of cut flowers for the house all summer long.

These flowers bloom so freely that you may cut dozens of blossoms daily without noticeable effect upon the garden display. Indeed, liberal cutting will only make the flowers bloom more abundantly. Never let a blossom go to seed, if you want to keep them coming.

All the colors of the rainbow are included in this array; and there will be fragrance besides, due in large part to No. 1, nicotiana affinis, the sweet tobacco. Its white trumpet flowers are delightfully perfumed, and are especially enjoyable at twilight.

Annual Forms

No. 2, calipso, is the annual form of coreopsis, and has the same daisy-like flowers; but a far greater variety of color. Colors include various tones of yellow, orange, maroon and crimson with many two-tone combinations. No. 3, annual larkspur, is the annual delphinium, rich in true pinks, dark blues, and white. No. 4, Cleome, is the spider-plant, growing four feet tall, bearing pink flowers.

Scabiosa, No. 5, is one of the loveliest of cut flowers in spite of its unpleasant Latin name, though its popular title of "mourning bride" is not much better. It bears on long stems ball shape flowers of the finest texture, and richest coloring, ranging from white through many tones of pink, red,

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
The Associated Press

Booby trap shower baths — the kind that scald you whenever somebody in the house flushes a toilet and then freeze you as soon as the gals in the kitchen need hot water — are blamed for most of the 90,000 serious falls and scalds that occur in bathrooms every year.

This adventure of taking shower baths seems to be universal. We were reading in the National Geographic magazine the other day an account of trying to take a bath on one of the ice-encrusted weather ships stationed out in the middle of the Atlantic. "The stall will lurch suddenly, tumbling you into a soapy heap," the account said. "And to make it more challenging, the temperature of the water changes from cold to scalding hot and back again with each roll of the ship."

We were thinking of how many landlubbers run similar risks, even without drinking anything to make a bathroom roll, when — of all funny coincidences — in walked a young man from Chicago to tell us how to stop this nerve wracking aspect of home life.

Maintains Temperature
"It's a thermostatic water control valve," he said. "A new invention. It will automatically maintain water temperature in a shower or tub at the point you set."

Then he went into his sales talk, which wasn't bad. "You," he said, "waste three or four minutes fiddling with the hot and cold water controls, trying to adjust the water controls, trying to adjust the water get it right, you step in and relax, but not for long. Someone opens a tap and the chill or scald turns every protruding knob and soap dish into a battering ram as you jump to get out of the spray.

"That's how you get bruised, fractured or something worse."

Modernized Light Switch
Another interesting development is a silent light switch that works like a radio dial and glows in the dark. You don't have to wipe your fingers on the wallpaper to find it. Merely a little exposure to light during the day is enough to keep it glowing all night. So no electric power is used when the switch is off.

One big feature of this type of switch is that you can have three buttons lined up on the same size wall plate that is used for one ordinary switch. Instead of stringing them out on a plate three times as big. These rotary switches have screwless terminals for quick wiring and they work on regular AC circuits.

Neglected Repairs Add More Troubles; Lazy Left Foot May Get Horn Blowing Job

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
When some motorists go shopping for a car they select everything credit can buy.

Neglecting to have repairs made as needed may seem to be merely a matter of putting off the inevitable, but experience is demonstrating that neglected repairs mean more repairs. One thing wrong with a car will bring on something new.

Classic example of this was the case of the slipping clutch which finally resulted in a frozen engine block. Overheating from clutch weakness was forcing anti-freeze out the radiator overflow. The owner, in adding to the cooling system, failed to add more anti-freeze. Then there are the cases where need for servicing the automatic transmission results in low gas mileage and gummed up valves. One owner who said he didn't care particularly if the automatic transmission shifted abruptly thought different about the matter when he found that the rear end gears suffered.

Matter Of Sequence
Another important point with regard to service these days is doing jobs in proper sequence. A story will illustrate.

When he heard noise in the speedometer one owner was advised to have the unit removed and inspected, and was told that at the same time he could have a new valve installed for the automatic windshield washer. On his car it is difficult to get at the speedometer as well as this particular valve. Failing to take advice, however, he went on a trip only to have the speedometer shaft break. When he stopped off to have it serviced he found that they could not change the wiper valve because none was in stock.

Now that the left foot is getting so lazy with practically nothing to do but wear out the floor carpet engineers are turning to the interesting speculation as to what new jobs we can give it. One idea that is gaining favor would have the car's horns operated by a foot button instead of a ring on the steering wheel. When informed of this one owner said he wondered if this might result in confusion because of the dimmer switch. Just imagine being so old fashioned. He didn't realize that the dimmer switch already is as outmoded as the clutch pedal.

Some cars have a foot control for the signal-seeking radio. One has a small pedal for applying the parking brake.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"While it has always been wise to check the engine's idling speed now and again this little bit of attention has become an essential with cars equipped with automatic transmissions. If idling speed is too high there will be annoying tendency for the car to creep forward when the driver is waiting in traffic with the selector lever in the 'Drive' or 'Low' position. However, most of the trouble stems from too slow idling which results in stalling. Engines tend to idle more slowly as they are used because of slight wear on the throttle stop screw. Every time you take your foot off the gas the throttle returns to the idle position with consequent wear on the screw so a slight adjustment toward faster idling is occasionally necessary. The more a car is used around town, because of more frequent and more abrupt throttle closings, the more often it will need to have idle speed returned to normal. The idling mixture should also be checked." When an engine pings sharply upon acceleration or when climbing a hill, and during the warming up period, indications are that there is an excessively lean mixture. The choke is the first thing to consider here, but if it works normally then there may be air leakage around the intake manifold. A weak fuel pump will fail to provide sufficient gasoline for the richness needed during warming up.

Something To Worry About
Not all motorists worry about things that do not matter. Too often they consider as normal things that are not right at all. A perfect example came to light recently when a mechanic pointed out that the engine was shaking a lot when idling. This the owner considered normal. "The engine is flexibly mounted," he pointed out. "It is supposed to shake."

It was all news to the mechanic, and rather discouraging news because it served to indicate how much education still lies ahead. Engines are flexibly mounted to prevent transfer of vibration to the car itself, but there is not supposed to be vibration during correct idling. If there is shaking trouble is indicated, such as uneven compression, too slow idling, an incorrect mixture, sticking valves or ignition irregularities.

A cracked battery case can be effectively sealed with special sealing material such as that used for gaskeals.

One of the new cars has a special pump driven by the right rear axle for the purpose of pressure lubricating the pinion and ring gears. It helps prevent gear whine at higher speeds.

That headache you get when driving may be due to crankcase vapors getting into the car from the oil filler pipe. They are from combustion gases blowing past worn or sticking piston rings into the crankcase.

Let's Have Some Fun
One thing that would stimulate a lot of new interest in the mechanical improvements of our current cars would be some spectacular or at least novel demonstrations. It isn't so many years ago that they proved the stability of the frame of one car by taking off one of the front wheels and operating it as a three-wheel job. Then there was the steel foot of another car which would support the weight of an elephant's two front feet — a small elephant, you understand. I well remember the way they used to prove the lack of vibration in the first of the American V-8 engines. A salesman would balance a short metal pencil atop the radiator cap with the motor running. Or he would balance a glass of water on the same spot.

In case the action of high tension current ever comes up as a conversation piece during the after-dinner coffee hour it may be of interest to record that spark jumps from the center electrode to the one on the side of the plug. The flow is thus from the high tension output of the ignition coil, down the spark plug wire (after passing through the distributor's rotor), down the center electrode and across the gap to the side electrode and the steel shell of the plug itself which is screwed into the engine. This is logical enough because voltage is analogous to water pressure. The flow is from high to low.

Q. Whenever I press the clutch

Set Hearing Date For Appeal Action

HARRISBURG (AP) — Dauphin County court will hear preliminary arguments April 12 in a test of the constitutionality of the state's unemployment compensation law by 72 industrial firms.

Date for the hearing was fixed Thursday by Judge William H. Neely after the Pennsylvania firms filed a petition protesting the state's lockout ruling in the recently settled Westinghouse labor dispute.

Judge Neely set the date after a conference with Charles E. Kenworthy, Philadelphia, a principal attorney for the appealing firms.

The firms are seeking a court injunction to halt plans for payment of unemployment compensation benefits to 23,000 Westinghouse employees until a State Superior Court decision is handed down in the matter.

pedal down while the engine idles I hear a whining noise. I have been told that this doesn't indicate trouble with the throwout bearing. What then? J. J. L.

A. This means trouble with the pilot bearing of the clutch.

Q. My car seems to steer too easily when I am on the open road. Can anything be done about this? H. M. B.

A. First have alignment rechecked because you may be noticing "wander" which is usually due to misalignment, weak springs, etc. If no trouble is indicated try dropping front tire pressures about two pounds. Also hold the steering wheel nearer the bottom.

Q. What would cause cylinder head gaskets to leak? There have been four replacements on the engine of my car within a year. Neither the head nor the block appear to be warped. Wm. L. G.

A. Probably you are not drawing the head nuts down in proper sequence. I am enclosing the correct order for tightening the head of the engine of your particular make and year car.

Q. There seems to be some water leaking into the car under the instrument panel. This is happening in dry weather. N. N. G. Jr.

A. Looks like the hot water heater is leaking. I suggest that you put some sealer into the cooling system. This may check it.

Q. I recently was annoyed by having the muffler give out several loud reports when going downhill, but for the past two weeks everything has been normal enough. One motorist of long experience tells me that this indicates that the condenser in the distributor is breaking down. What do you say? F. M. B.

A. He may be right about this, and I think it would be a good idea to check the condenser anyway. But there's a good chance that the muffler clogs on you heard were due to a leaky valve. This sort of thing often is temporary.

Q. Why don't they use some rubber in the steering system so as to take up road shock and vibration? N. B. R.

A. A good idea, indeed. But it is already in use on some of the 1956 models.

Q. What would cause an over-rich mixture? The carburetor has been carefully checked to make sure that the idling screws are not worn. There is no wear on the high speed jet either. Float level is correct. We have also had the automatic choke carefully examined. It is working normally. H. McE.

A. In a case like this it will save a lot of checking to test the fuel pump. It's pressure may be too high.

Q. There is quite a bit of rumbling and roughness in the car after

Taneytown NORMA WILLET IS WINNER OF SPELLING BEE

Norma Willet won the annual junior high school spelling bee in the high school auditorium last Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock. Jacqueline Myers was the second place winner. Thirty students participated in the match. Miss Willet will compete in the county spelling bee April 4 in Westminster. Mrs. Catherine Seibel was in charge of general arrangements. Gerald Richter, high school supervisor, pronounced the words and Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner, Mrs. Ralph Stoneliser and Mrs. Virginia Sanders served as judges.

The annual school card party will be held Thursday, April 5, in the auditorium. It was announced. Proceeds will be used for various school needs.

The Easter program under the direction of Miss Helen Bankard was presented Tuesday morning. The solid geometry class, assisted by Geary Myers, prepared the program. The program consisted of scriptural readings, prayer in unison and a one-act play "The Light in the Window."

Members Of Cast
Members of the cast were: Aunt Bpoe, Helen Humbert; Nina, Shirley Jordan; Edna, Sandra Koons; Jeremy, Frank Henshaw; Jane Loring, Suzanne Lawyer; Shucky, Geary Myers; Jim Barnes, John Skiles; Emily, Mary Alice Rue; the two women, Patricia Flickinger and Roberta Garvin; the two Angels, Joan Davidson and Rosalie Sharrer; and a group of Easter Carolers. Larry Feeser directed the lighting. Arlene Naylor was in charge of costumes. Members of the stage crew were: Larry Martin, Leslie Null, Harold Slaybaugh and Robert Simmons.

Scriptural readings from St. Luke were given by Leslie Null. Roberta Garvin played the piano. The student body prayed the Lord's Prayer and gave the flag salute.

Maryland Day was observed in an assembly by the ninth grade social studies classes under the direction of Mrs. Wallace Yingling last Tuesday. The program included a panel discussion on interesting and important points of Maryland, folk dances, a gallery of famous Marylanders, a tableau on Freedom of Conscience, the crowning of Mary Whitelie as Queen of Maryland, a roll call and drill of the counties and state songs.

NIXON APPEARS SURE OF BEING RENOMINATED

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon appears today about as sure of renomination on the Republican ticket as any candidate could be 4½ months before the party's national convention.

Rep. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, former Republican national chairman, dimmed further the hopes of those who might wish to replace Nixon as he predicted last night the vice president again will be President Eisenhower's running mate.

"The convention alone will make its choice," Scott said in a CBS radio interview, but he added: "I think the ticket will be Eisenhower and Nixon."

Close To Dewey
Scott is looked upon as a member of the liberal wing of the GOP from which most suggestions for dumping Nixon reportedly have come in the past.

Scott also is close to former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, whom some of Nixon's friends have named as one of those who wanted to change the No. 2 nominee.

The dump-Nixon movement has slumped sharply since President Eisenhower told a news conference March 14 that he would be happy to be on any political ticket on which he was a candidate with Nixon.

Lot Of Write-ins
Nixon got more than 22,000 write-in votes in the March 13 New Hampshire primary even before Eisenhower made that statement.

Disclosure yesterday that about 4,500 Republican ballots were ruined in the March 20 Minnesota primary, partly by efforts of voters to write in the names of vice presidential candidates, was interpreted in some quarters as another sign that Nixon is popular with the GOP rank and file.

Nixon's position in the shadow of Eisenhower apparently has been made more secure by private Republican polls. These party samplings are said to have indicated that Democratic criticism of the vice president has not penetrated deep enough to damage materially

SIX COMMIES ARE CONVICTED OF CONSPIRACY

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A federal court jury took five days to mull over two million words of testimony, then convicted six of eight Communists charged with violating the Smith Act.

Convicted Thursday after five months of trial were Mrs. Emil (Martha Stone) Asher, 44, of Newark, N. J.; Joseph Dimow, 35, of New Haven; Jacob Goldring, 40, of Trumbull; Robert C. Ekins, 47, of Old Saybrook; Sidney Taylor, 40, of New Haven; and James S. Tate, 47, Hartford Negro.

A 34-year-old New Haven printer, Alfred L. Marder, was acquitted.

The jury could not agree about the eighth defendant, Sidney S. Resnick, 34, also of New Haven. He will get a new trial or be acquitted by the judge.

Will File Appeals
Defense lawyers said they will appeal the convictions because of the government's refusal to permit a trial by court. The defendants sought such a trial but Judge Robert P. Anderson ruled the government would have to agree to it.

The six were convicted of conspiring to teach or advocate the violent overthrow of the government. Sentencing was deferred by Judge Anderson. The Smith Act carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

This was the nation's 14th Smith Act trial, bringing to 101 the number of convictions, with 9 acquittals.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Thousands of pilgrims and Romans thronged St. Peter's Basilica this Good Friday for mournful tenebrae (shadows) services commemorating Christ's death on the cross.

The Pope appeared in his Vatican apartment window Friday to bless several thousand cheering pilgrims gathered below in St. Peter's Square. The pontiff has made such an appearance at noon every day during Holy Week.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — While most girls her age still face the prospect of cutting first teeth, 2-year-old Thelma Jean Kennedy has felt the pain of having two extracted.

Thelma Jean was born Jan. 24 with two lower front incisors. She was born 2½ months premature. Attending physicians say they do not know of any other premature baby being born with teeth.

HARD WORKING JOHNSON FACES ROUGHER FUTURE

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The political world of dark-haired Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas had a smooth and pleasant look when he got up on the morning of July 2, 1955. It's a little rougher now.

Any criticism of him on that day last July was minor. He wasn't quite 47 and he had gone a long way in politics; he was leader of the Democratic majority in the Senate.

He had just done a remarkable job—through conciliation and consideration for Democrats and Republicans alike — of getting both sides to work together and ram through one bill after another with a minimum of fuss.

Suffers Heart Attack
He didn't go in for speeches himself. He paid attention to details. He had inexhaustible energy. He never said he thought of the presidency. But if he did, he had plenty of time.

On the evening of July 2 he suffered a heart attack which almost killed him. The best tribute to his success as a Senate leader was shown in the days which followed when one senator after another filled the Congressional Record with praise of him.

Getting Democrats and Republicans to work together is not the way to create issues which can be used readily in a presidential campaign.

Proposal Takes Turn
Since the Democrats don't control the White House, they must depend on their congressional leaders to produce a program which can be offered the voters.

Right after Congress came back this year Johnson began pushing a bill to take natural gas producers from under direct government price control. He may have felt he was putting his political right foot forward. His native Texas is loaded with natural gas producers. In a way it turned out to be his left foot.

Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) disclosed a gas lobbyist had offered him a $2,500 campaign fund contribution which he turned down. This made an investigation of lobbying almost mandatory. And, although the Senate passed the gas bill, President Eisenhower vetoed it.

Find Issue Weak
The Democrats have talked of making natural resources a campaign issue. They accuse the Eisenhower administration of giving them away.

But last week Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, gave Johnson and his fellow Texan, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, a startling nudge.

He said the Democrats would be in a weak position to complain about the Eisenhower administration's handling of natural resources unless they themselves did something.

Johnson Caught Between
Southern Democrats had been mentioning Johnson as a possibility for president. His friend Rayburn came out for Johnson as Texas' "favorite son" and head of its delegation at the Democratic National Convention.

Then Texas' Gov. Allan Shivers, who calls himself Johnson's friend, challenged Rayburn, called his proposal on Johnson a "cynical" effort to divide conservative Texas Democrats. This means a fight over the delegation, with Johnson in the middle.

ACCEPTS RESIGNATION
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday accepted "with profound personal regret" the resignation of Douglas McKay as secretary of the interior. He wished McKay well in his campaign for senator.

McKay's resignation is effective April 15. He has entered the May 18 Oregon Republican primary in a bid for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Wayne Morse who turned Democrat after election as a Republican.

Here is the amazing new hearing aid featured in thousands of newspapers and magazines throughout the world. Incredible as it may seem, the pair of glasses worn by the young lady pictured here is a complete, self-contained hearing aid—the sensational "LISTENER" by Otation.

The "Listener" has NO COIL, NO UNSIGHTLY EAR BUTTON. It is put on and taken off in seconds. It permits you to wear any apparel—even a bathing suit. It permits you to work normally—to engage in strenuous sports!

MOSCOW VISIT FOR ORCHESTRA HELD UNLIKELY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chances of the Philadelphia Orchestra visiting Moscow on a government-sponsored tour appear quite dim according to State Department officials.

The orchestra, one of the nation's foremost, received an invitation from the Soviet Cultural Ministry recently and turned to the State Department for financial assistance.

Lots of Checking
While this request has been taken under advisement, department officials said yesterday funds for such trips have been virtually exhausted. Among other questions to be considered, the officials said, is reciprocity. The department has a rule that its exchanges with Russia must be on the basis of national interest. The question that arises is what kind of Russian group should be invited to balance the visit to the Soviet of a 100 piece orchestra.

The State Department hasn't even hinted at the matter publicly but some sort of FBI check is maintained on all Russian visitors and the more there are, the more difficult the procedure. If a reciprocating Russia group were to come to the United States, that would mean checks on some 100 persons.

Cops' Abductor Is Sent To Hospital

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A psychiatrist says Joseph Madara, who abducted two policemen and a Catholic priest at gunpoint and took them on a wild auto ride through the city, should be committed to Farview State Hospital for the criminal insane.

Dr. Winifred Stewart submitted the report on Madara's condition to Quarter Sessions Court. The contents were disclosed yesterday. The psychiatrist said Madara is suffering from dementia praecox.
